7. Declaration & Next Steps

I declare that:

- The information I have supplied is accurate.
- I comply with the eligibility requirements relating to the elections.
- I have read the Code of Conduct for elected members.
- I have read the Canvassing Code of Practice.
- I have undertaken my own thorough examination of the Society to satisfy that I have confidence in and will be well suited to working with the Society.

I understand that the Secretary may make whatever enquiries are deemed appropriate to satisfy the Society that my nomination complies with the requirements of the Society Rules.

If elected, I agree to:

- Commit to maintaining and to upholding co-operative values and principles.
- Abide by the terms of the Code of Conduct which applies to elected members.
- Meet any requirements to undertake training and development during my term of office.

Your Information

- Your information will be processed and stored in a secure format by the Society.
- The Secretary will retain control of the information and ensure that it remains confidential and is not used for any other purposes other than this nomination.
- Your information will be secured and at all times we will endeavour to comply with Data Protection and other privacy regulations.
- Under the Data Protection Act, you are entitled to request a copy of information we hold about you.

Giving Your Consent

By completing and submitting this form you are confirming that:

- You understand that the Society may use your information as outlined above.
- You understand that if during our searches and checks we receive information considered to be unsatisfactory to the Society, this will be brought to the attention of the Board.

What Happens Next with My Nomination?

Following the closing date for nominations, the Society Secretary acting as the Returning Officer will review your nomination form.

The Returning Officer is entitled to request further information from you if not fully satisfied through your nomination form and initial screening results that all eligibility requirements have been met.

If the Returning Officer is not satisfied that the eligibility requirements have been met, they are entitled to decide that you may not go forward on to the ballot or proceed in the election process. You will be informed of the decision and given reasons in writing.

If at any time after the confirmation of the ballot to the declaration of the election result, the Returning Officer is provided with the information through due diligence that eligibility requirements have not been met or maintained by a candidate, they are entitled to decide that you may not proceed in the election process and will be withdrawn from the ballot. You will be informed of the decision and given reasons in writing.

I confirm that I have read and understood all sections of this Form and give my consent for all searches and checks to be carried out by the Society.
